

Scholarly Communication Librarian – Assistant Professor

Job Description

As a member of the Information Services & Studies Department, the Scholarly Communication Librarian will coordinate the management of the institutional repository and develop and deliver an active outreach program. The target audience for this program is librarians and library staff, Georgia College faculty, and students.

Reporting to the Associate Director of Information Services & Studies, the Scholarly Communication Librarian serves as the primary spokesperson at the campus level for issues and policies relating to scholarly communication, including drafting and reviewing policies and guidelines for the institutional repository; analyzing copyright status and risk for digital-related publishing projects; and assisting faculty to review contracts and license agreements.

Required Qualifications

- ALA accredited Masters degree in library and information science. Must meet SACSCOC accreditation requirements stated in C.S. 3.7.1 (www.sacscoc.org (faculty credentials))
- Two years of public services (e.g., reference, instruction) experience in an academic library
- One year of experience using an institutional repository system
- One year of experience developing and maintaining web-based information guides and instructional materials; a strong public service orientation.
- Knowledge of technologies and systems germane to the 21st century library, and issues surrounding scholarly communications across a variety of disciplines;
- Demonstrated exceptional written and oral communication skills; ability to present complex information to various user groups, such as faculty, staff, and students.

Preferred Qualifications

- Copyright training and/or certification (e.g., Creative Commons, CopyrightX)
- Two years of administrative experience with Elsevier Digital Commons
One year of administrative experience with Elsevier PURE
- One year of experience teaching for-credit courses

Salary: $ 55,100
